The Farm

Our 300 acre estate involves a low intensity approach to agriculture, focusing on traditional land management techniques and environmental improvements. All arable land has reverted to permanent grass leys. A Sussex suckler herd over summer months and Romney sheep over winter months, creates a low input lowland grass habitat. We have created additional habitats by establishing wild bird mixes (providing feed over winter months), planting native hedging (blackthorn, wild cherry, beech) and fruit trees (plum, apple, pear). We have restored a pond which is stocked with traditional British fish breeds, including, Roach, Rudd, Tench, Crucian Carp.
